

Our Impact

Clinical and therapeutic staff at client sites often report that their residents make critical advances during our programs. As a result, some of our partners have worked with us for over two decades.

"The Nature Connection program is a true therapeutic intervention and not merely an activity or a way to fill time. The positive outcomes, enriched environment, material rich display and exploration of the elements are supportive of our core values of integrity, quality of life and person-centered approach. As an Alzheimer's professional I can attest to the moments of joy, inquisitiveness, ability to maintain attention with a sense of purpose and joy experienced by our population during The Nature Connection programming presentation."

Mary Baum

Compass Memory Support Director | Concord Park Assisted Living

"When the program arrives there is a sudden buzz of excitement in the room as the elders watch the group set up for the program. They sit up, pay attention and begin to talk to each other without prompts. It's almost like magic."

Alison C. Cservenschi

Elder Service Plan | Cambridge Health Alliance

"There are some very important shifts that take place in the groups including: increased positive affect, active participation, increased socialization, and decreased anxiety. The Nature Connection [helps to] break down barriers and encourage socialization."

Elana Clamen, M.A.

Activities Director, Elder Service Plan | Cambridge Health Alliance

"When you arrive here in cars loaded with everything from cuddly dogs and mysterious owls, to plants and deer antlers, the imaginations and very lives of the people living here are brightened and made fuller."

Daniel Thibert

Life Skills Educator | Concord House

